Notes:

English:

All assigned poems may be found easily online. The complete poems of G.K. Chesterton are available at Poemhunter.com. All World War I poems are taken from a larger list at The Poetry Foundation:

http://www.poetryfoundation.org/features/articles/detail/70139

You may opt alternately to assign poems from the Dialectical and Rhetorical stages in The Harp and the Laurel Wreath.

History:

Page assignments for the UK history option, the Young Oxford History of England and Ireland, are approximate -- I do not own this book, and there was not a table of contents available on Amazon. So I scheduled it per the total number of pages, to establish at least a general idea of the pace needed to finish the book in 36 weeks.

Geography:

You may find that you want or need to schedule more than two days of geography per week, at least in Term 1, to accommodate the reading. Alternately, because Endurance is relatively long, but Kon-Tiki is relatively short, you can opt to have Endurance spill over into Term 2, and just compress the Kon-Tiki assignments, which are rather spread out across the twelve weeks. OR you can use the "open" weeks in Term 2 for additional geography reading.

Page assignments for The Long Walk are approximate -- I do not own this book, and there was not a table of contents available on Amazon. So I divided the number of pages by ten and scheduled it out that way, to leave Weeks 6 and 12 clear for those who want to give exams or take make-up/flex weeks.
